About the Junior League of High Point

In 1928 a small, but powerful group of dedicated women formed the Junior League of High Point and in 1952 the JLHP became a member of the Association of Junior Leagues International (AJLI). The sole purpose was to train women to build a better, stronger community in High Point. For more than 90 years, the League has grown our involvement in the community. Our organization of diverse women continues to support a wide variety of programs to empower women and children through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers.

JUNIOR LEAGUE OF HIGH POINT

About

HighLights is the Junior League of High Point's annual publication with content dedicated to our current projects and activities, as well as community interest articles. The publication is a full color magazine that reaches our 300+ members, as well as our community advisors, donors, and community partners. The magazine is also distributed to elected officials, community leaders and many local businesses in the greater High Point area.
